

Professional History of Dr. Ryan Schumacher

Ryan Schumacher graduated from Valparaiso University with a Bachelor of Science degree with majors in chemistry and biology in 1997 and continued his education at the Southern Illinois University, School of Dental Medicine. Following dental school, Dr. Schumacher entered the United States Air Force Dental Corps. As a Captain, Dr. Schumacher successfully completed an Advanced Education in General Dentistry residency program in Washington, DC and went on to act as Clinical Support Chief and Forensic Dental Officer while practicing comprehensive dentistry at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida. At the conclusion of his Air Force commitment, Dr. Schumacher joined Dr. Gerald Gille in Fairfield, Ohio as a general dentist. Following six years of private practice experience, Dr Schumacher attended the orthodontic residency program at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. In June of 2010, he will be relocating to Melbourne, Florida where he is starting a new orthodontic office. He is married to a supportive wife and has three wonderful children.

